

The first term 1st test

The United Nations Children's Fund was created by the United Nations General Assembly on December 11, 1946 to provide emergency food and health care to children in countries that had been devastated by World War II. In 1953, UNICEF became a permanent part of the United Nations system.

Nineteen years after its founding, UNICEF was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize on 26 October, 1965 for fulfilling the condition of Nobel's will. The promotion of brotherhood among nations and emerging on the world stage as a peace factor of great importance. This event was made possible by the growth of a global partnership involving private and non-governmental organizations to take advantage of increasing opportunities for improving the lives of children everywhere. Everyone has understood the language of UNICEF... Even the most reluctant person is bound to admit that in action, it has proved that compassion knows no national boundaries & aid is given to all children without any distinction of race, nationality or political conviction. UNICEF has become an international device capable of liberating hundreds of millions of children from ignorance, disease, malnutrition and starvation.
