

Hi Helen,

How are you? I was on holiday with my family in Barcelona, in Spain.

We flew from London to Barcelona airport. We arrived in Spain at five o'clock in the afternoon and took a taxi to the city centre and to our hotel. We went straight out to a restaurant because we were starving.

The next day, we got up early and explored the city. We walked up and down La Rambla, which is a really crowded street in central Barcelona. I bought a postcard at one of the shops there.

After that, we went to Park Guell. This park was designed by a famous Spanish architect called Gaudi. It's full of colourful sculptures of animals and shapes and it's really interesting place to walk around. My favourite sculpture was the Lizard at the entrance. It's really cool.

Finally, we visited the Sagrada Familia, which is a fantastic building in Barcelona. Gaudi designed this too. He worked on it for forty years but he died before it was finished. You aren't allowed to climb the stairs of the tower because it's too dangerous, but there are lifts you can go up and down in. The views are amazing from the top.

We really had great time there.

Bye for now.

Jessie
